About a week (more or least) ago, as the Essex was cruising along in the river, the lookout reported the rebel gusboat William H. Webb in sight. Chase was given immediately, and she was pursued past the guns at Vicksburg. The Essex then started down the river, and on reaching Natcher, sent a boat's crew ashore for ice. The boat, on nearing shore, was fired into by the rebels, and several of the crew wounded. For this act of temerity the whole shooting force of the Essex was brought to bear upon the ill-fated city for about two hours and a half, when a depu-tation was sent down with a proposition to surrender the city and hoist the Stars and Stripes. Commodore Porter then ordere the firing to cease, and preceeded down the river till off Bayou Sara, where he came to the East continues to be of the most cheer-ing character, success after success follow-abode of rebels. FROM PHILADELPHIA. PHILADELPHIA, Midnight, Sept. 19.
Formey's Press just received highly inresting intelligence from McClellan's army, up to noon to-day, which the editor kindly furnishes to the Associated Press. The substance of its special correspondence is briefly this:

Early last night the enemy commenced proming at Shepardstown bridge, and two ords above and below it. During the night McClellan advanced a battery and she them from the surrounding hills. Dead and wounded found this morning evinced the ability of our signal officers in direct-ing the fire of the gans. On discovering the movement of the enemy early this marning, Pleasanton was dispatched in hot pursuit with two batteries and two regi ents of infantry, through a gap of high hills, and he succeeded in cutting off large amounts of their ammunition supplies, and captured besides a small portion of Gregg's
